

At European Profiles we strongly believe that our people are our biggest asset. We truly care about creating the perfect enabling environment for our consultants to develop and grow. And we foster such growth in many ways while recognizing that every individual has slightly different needs. We pride our employee success on the following:

- Living by our core values. This shapes the culture and defines the character of our company.
- Focusing on teamwork. Together, you can experience the satisfaction of finding innovative ways to enable clients to reach their goals.
- Investing in training and development. We hire the best people and help them become even better.
- Providing a supportive work environment with access to a vast array of resources, European Profiles helps every employee build their career.

- Lending a hand in our global village. This is an important way to build positive relationships with all our stakeholders and create powerful lasting change.

We offer job opportunities to both external consultants wishing to work with us in our projects and to young and experienced professionals wishing to enhance their career in the consulting business.
